Switching Factoring or Invoice Discounting Providers Has Become Easier

Clients are often worried about the difficulties they expect when moving between providers such as paying termination fees and notifying customers. Fortunately, the process has become much easier due to a number of important factors.

There are now several of the providers that we work with who will pay all or part of any termination fees. In addition, "hand holding" services have been introduced to make the transfer process as smooth as possible and most providers are members of the Factors and Discounters Association which has standard procedures to govern transfers between members . . .
